V. Environmental Health Program Update

Mr. Weisdack presented the Board with a copy of the new sewage regulations with the additions that he and the staff feel are needed. He also presented the Board with a fee schedule which will be effective January 1, 2007, after three readings and publication.

Beginning January 1, 2007, any money received for the sewage program must be put into a separate fund. Sewage funds no longer will be used for programs other than sewage.

A. Sanitary Sewer Policy

At the September 2006 Board meeting, the Board asked Mr. Weisdack and Mr. Tusick to come up with a decision tree, based on a timeline and set of assumptions to make a decision on homes in areas of probable sanitary sewer installation. Mr. Weisdack provided a flowchart to the Board showing how the procedure would take place.

VI. Personal Health Services Update

Mrs. Scherer reported that the PHS staff are still planning the large flu clinics. They have asked people to pre-register. ODH has stated that they will be shipping a percentage of the flu vaccine around October 23rd. There will be no priority shipments to any LHD who have scheduled flu clinics early.

A. WIC

WIC recently relocated their Middlefield clinic. The relocation went very well with little impact on the clients. They were notified well ahead of the relocation.

B. Health Education

The Obesity Taskforce has been brainstorming. They will continue to meet and will be checking on other resources available and if any other agencies would be interested in participating.

XII. Other Business

A. Health Commissioner’s Conference

The AOHC conference was heavily focused on emergency preparedness and how it affects the local health departments. Clemans-Nelson had a presentation on how local and state laws and policies can affect the pandemic flu planning. The open meeting law can be a hindrance because it requires the Board of Health only make decisions in a public forum. In the time of a pandemic emergency the Board should be able to make decisions via conference phone to limit public gatherings. Another problem could be public records law. All of our flu planning would be public record. Because when we are making these plans, we must think of it as “worst case scenario”, if all these plans were to become public it could cause some panic, or hard feelings, etc. in the communities.

The exception to public record law is anything that has to do with bioterrorism planning. Clemans-Nelson said that if we consider the pandemic flu plan could be used during a bioterrorism event, it could be a protected document.
The Fair Labor Standards indicate that you cannot ask the Health District employees to volunteer to do their job that they are normally paid for during an emergency. They have to be paid for it.

There are some policies on the books that help us. Substitute State Bill 9 allows the BOH to contract with Ohio Community Service Council for assistance with obtaining volunteers. Revised Section 3709.30 allows the health department, in the time of an epidemic or threatened epidemic, to apportion unfunded costs back to the townships. None of the county auditors have had to deal with this. Clemans-Nelson suggested we build this into our drill so that in the event of an emergency the Auditor will have some idea what to do. Most counties have not set up an emergency fund such as the Geauga County Health District has set up (Public Health Emergency fund).

Revised Code 4167.06 states that a public health employee can refuse to work if the employee feels the job is too dangerous, unless it is a condition that normally exists for that position. Clemans-Nelson suggested revising job descriptions to indicate any possible dangers (exposure to blood borne pathogens, etc.) that an employee may be exposed to in their day to day work.

There were many suggestions made by Clemans-Nelson regarding the different laws that should be looked at that would cover emergency situations, and also questions that should be asked of local commissioners and attorney generals that might raise their awareness.

XIII. Meetings

The regular meeting of the Board will be held Monday, November 13, 2006 at 7:00 p.m., in the Environment Health lobby at 470 Center Street, Building 8, in Chardon, Ohio.

XIV. Adjournment
